Canned Fruits and Vegetables

Give Variety to Every-day Meals

"Every day use two vegetables other than potatoes. Every day use two fruits, one raw and one cooked." This is a well known slogan often quoted by dietitians. If we are to follow this rule we must have a plentiful supply of canned fruits and vegetables on the pantry shelf.

These of course may be put up at home in glass jars or may be commercially canned products.

These methods of storing foods in airtight, sterilized containers have obliterated the differences of seasons. Due to our present methods fruits and vegetables served out of the can are often fresher and more healthful than so called "fresh" products.

Greatest dietetic value is reached only when the product is fully matured on the plant. Fruit or vegetables harvested when under-ripe never become perfect nutritionally. Such products as spinach, asparagus, green peas, berries, etc., which may be stored successfully only by refrigeration, canning or drying, lose flavour and nutritive value sometimes within a few hours after picking if exposed to the air. Commercial canned products are canned at perfect maturity and within a few hours of harvesting.

At one time the work of canning fruits and vegetables was done entirely in the home. To-day the home-manager must decide for herself whether this is still her best plan. The modern homemaker, to be truly efficient must weigh values, social as well as economic. Knowing the conditions under which fruit and vegetables are packed in cans in Canada, she must determine whether it is good buying to use the commercially canned products or to continue to do her own.

If we use home canned fruits and vegetables we know exactly what has gone into each jar. We might ask "What do we know about commercial canned products?" and our answer would be the same. We may know exactly what the contents of each tin will be if we understand the regulations regarding these products in Canada and buy accordingly.

REGULATIONS REGARDING CANNED FRUIT AND VEGETABLES IN CANADA

The Government of Canada, under the Meat and Canned Foods Act of 1907, and regulations made thereunder, enforces laws which ensure quality in all commercial canned fruit and vegetables sold in Canada. This act, as it pertains to fruit and vegetables and their products, is administered by the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

All canning factories which do interprovincial or export trade are inspected by Government appointed Inspectors for sanitary conditions and the products are inspected for quality.

The Pure Food Laws of Canada state: "Canned fruits and canned vegetables are sound products made by sterilizing clean, sound, properly matured and prepared, fresh fruit or vegetables by means of heat, and keeping the same in suitable, clean containers, closed hermetically or otherwise, and to conform in name to the particular fruits or vegetables used in their preparation."

No adulterant, preservative or artificial colouring matter may be used in commercial canned fruits or vegetables. Therefore they contain only pure water, sugar and salt.

Tomatoes may have no added water, and the juice must be the juice from the particular lot of tomatoes.

THERE ARE FOUR GRADES OF QUALITY, and the grade of quality of the contents must be declared on the label:—

FANCY QUALITY.—Highest grade—as nearly perfect as possible—packed from sound, clean fruit or vegetables, at perfect maturity and free from blemishes, of good colour and uniform in size. The workmanship must be good; the liquid must be clear.

CHOICE QUALITY.—Allows slight variation in size, colour and maturity, but must be packed from fruit or vegetables which are sound, clean and free from blemishes—liquid fairly clear.

STANDARD QUALITY.—All fruit or vegetables must be of good quality and good maturity, although they need not be uniform in colour or size. Liquid must be fairly clear.

SECOND QUALITY.—Packed from clean, sound fruit or vegetables which need not be uniform in maturity, colour or size.

Always buy by the quality mark.

Canned peas have the size of pea stated on the label. No. 1 is a very small pea, No. 2 larger, and the size increases as the number. The size of peas in no way depends on the quality nor the quality on the size.

CANNED FRUITS ARE ALSO GRADED FOR SYRUP:—

- I. Heavy Syrup.
- II. Light Syrup.
- III. Unsweetened or without sugar.
- IV. Packed with—% sugar.

There are on the market at present over thirty-five sizes of cans. Only eleven of these are standardized. All containers not of standard size must have the net weight and drained weight of solids plainly stated on the label.

Standard sizes are:—

Number	Diameter in inches	Height in inches	Approximate net weight	Approximate measure
These are outside measurements				A standard measuring cup contains
1 special.....	3	2 $\frac{1}{2}$	7.1 oz.	$\frac{1}{2}$ pint
8 oz.....	2 $\frac{11}{16}$	3 $\frac{1}{2}$	8 oz.	$\frac{3}{4}$ cup
1.....	2 $\frac{11}{16}$	4	10.9 oz.	1 cup
2 $\frac{1}{2}$ flat.....	4 $\frac{1}{16}$	2 $\frac{6}{16}$	14 oz.	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup
20 oz.....	3 $\frac{1}{16}$	4 $\frac{11}{16}$	16.5 oz.	2 cups

2.....	3 $\frac{7}{16}$	4 $\frac{9}{16}$	20.5 oz.	2 $\frac{3}{4}$ cups
2 $\frac{1}{2}$	4 $\frac{1}{16}$	4 $\frac{11}{16}$	30 oz.	3 $\frac{3}{4}$ cups
3.....	4 $\frac{1}{4}$	4 $\frac{7}{8}$	35 oz.	4 cups

10.....	6 $\frac{3}{16}$	7	107.7 oz.	14 cups

Buy as large a can as can be conveniently used.

All sizes must be plainly stated on the ends of the case in which they are packed.

All containers not of standard size must have the drained weight of the solids therein plainly stated on the label.

Always read the label carefully before buying. Know the quality and insist on Canadian products. Buy the quality best suited to your needs. The cheaper grades sometimes may be used to advantage as food value does not vary according to grade.

It is not necessary to aerate foods on opening the can before serving.

It is quite safe to let canned vegetables or fruits remain in the can for a few hours after opening. However, it is better if storing in the refrigerator, to remove the contents to a covered dish.

Ptomaine poison cannot develop from canned fruits or vegetables, with the possible exception of ripe beans, but there has never been a case proven to come from this source.

Spoilage may always be detected by swelling of the can, discoloration or unpleasant odour of the contents and such food should always be discarded.

Inspection for quality. Laboratory at Ottawa

The housekeeper who serves meals "out of the can" has discovered the secret of variety at all seasons. Canned foods, like fresh foods, soon lose their appeal if served daily just as they come from the container. Provide variety by using combinations, either with other vegetables and fruits or with other foods for flavour. The possibilities are many.

WAYS OF SERVING CANNED VEGETABLES

CANNED VEGETABLES as they come from the can are surprisingly good if turned, liquor and all, into a skillet and allowed to boil rapidly until nearly all the liquor is boiled away. Then the vegetable may be seasoned with butter, salt and pepper and served at once. NEVER wash canned vegetables before using. The liquid contains valuable mineral salts. Precious flavour may also be lost in so doing. Use the liquid from the vegetables in sauces or soups if it is not desirable to serve it with the vegetable.

CHERRY MOULD—

Cut stale bread in thin slices and trim off the crusts. Prepare a jelly using:—

1 cup boiling water, 1 cup juice from canned cherries.
1 package cherry jelly powder.

Dip slices of bread in the jelly mixture and use them to line a cold, wet mould or bowl. Fill in the centre with drained cherries. Place more bread over the top. Pour over any remaining jelly mixture and set in a cool place until firm. Turn out and serve with whipped cream or custard sauce.
